"Let us rejoice in the Lord, as we celebrate the feast day in honor of all the Saints, at whose festival the Angels rejoice and praise the Son of God". This solemnity in honor of all the saints, demonstrates the great honor and respect that we render to holy men and women of the past. Honoring the saints reminds us of our goal of attaining heaven as a reward for our efforts in living the Gospel taught to us by Jesus.

There are the canonized, the beatified, the venerable, the well-known and the little known, coming from all walks of life, cutting across all time frames as well as age and gender, some named in the book of saints, many others are not, all too numerous to be counted. Indeed, it is to celebrate the grace-filled memory of all those in the realm of heaven who have accepted the saving grace of Christ that the Church has instituted the 'Feast of All Saints'.

The exact origin of this Solemnity is unclear, observed as it has been on different days in different places. According to Sts. Ephraem (306-373) and John Chrysostom (349-407), a feast honoring all the martyrs of the Church was already being observed on 13th May in the Eastern Church in the 4th century. It is this date that may have prompted the choice of the same date on the part of pope Boniface IV when he dedicated the Pantheon in Rome-which he had received from emperor Phocas in 609 or 610-to honor Our Blessed Mother and the Martyrs. (Basilica of Saint Mary and the Holy Martyrs).

The first evidence of 1st November as the date of the celebration, however, was noted in England during the Papacy of Gregory III (731-741) who dedicated an oratory in St. Peter's, Rome, to all the saints. The broadening of the feast to include all the saints and martyrs of the Universal Church and its observance on 1st November is variably ascribed to Pope Gregory IV (827-844) and Gregory VII (1073-1085).

"Who are these wearing white robes, and where did they come from" (Rev 7:13). The saints are exquisite masterpieces of God's work; they are examples of the life that is lived in the spirit of the Beatitudes (Mt 5:1-12a). Their triumph is a source of our joy; their glory is our eager expectation. This feast is meant to remind us that the saints were created with human flesh and blood like us; that to be counted among the highly favored of the Lord, it is not enough to be a Christian. Rather, we ought to cherish in our heart, points out St. Alphonsus Liguori, 'a desire to achieve sanctity' to enter ever more deeply into the death-resurrection mystery of Christ. The liturgical celebration of the feast of any saints provides such an occasion. "O pleasant happiness to see the Saints, to be with the Saints, to be a Saint!" (St. Augustine).

Have a Blessed Weekend.
